

The mission of this site is to provide sickle cell patient and professional education, news, research updates and world wide sickle cell resources.

- It is the mission of our organizations to provide world class compassionate care, education, counseling, and research for patients with sickle cell disease.
- It is our mission to help break the sickle cycle.
- This site maintains the privacy of all individuals and no information is gathered.
- This site is not supported by and does not accept advertising requests.
- Content and responses are reviewed by the Center Advisory Board

Information provided on this site is designed to support, not replace, the relationship that exists between a patient/site visitor and his/her physician.

Joomla SEO powered by JoomSEF